THE AFTERMATH

"Interhash 1991 is over, or is it? Does it ever end? Except for a few perennial whiners (what would any hash be without a few), Interhash '91 was a success. There was Rumson's skunk fish, a used condom in the potato salad and a wanker walking around naked with a purple bow wrapped around his dick (wasn't a 1st place for size). Such are the ingredients for a great hash.

There were so many highlights but who can remember them all. Being a joint master and part of the two year planning of Interhash '91, the fact that it came off without anyone landing in jail or lost forever in the forest of the Kettle Moraine is significant. The Hyatt security told me they had never seen anything like it. I told them it was all in their imagination and perhaps they had eaten some bad brats. A patron complained of a couple dressed in outlandish costumes fornicating in the elevator. "I called security", continued the patron, "but by the time they got to the elevator the couple had left." That's the way hash romances usually go.....up and down, off again-on again!

Everyone whined about the trails so they must have been good....the "Ballbuster" on Saturday was the most popular. The whining over the lack of buses for the extra-long run caused us to change our plans on Sunday. There was no Ballbuster planned for Sunday, so a mismanagement decision was made to call the long run a "Ballbuster" and send the devotees on a wild hare chase. Eventually, I think some half-brains finally figured it out but by then they were in the shiggy and being chased by a nest of angry bees.

On Sunday, a sheriff drove up to the stage and told Dildo and I that a bus load of "his followers" had stopped at some bushes near a home and proceeded to "urinate each other together, both men and women!" Dildo replied that it couldn't be any of his people because they are family people and wouldn't "urinate each other together in public." The sheriff accepted this as an apology and left.

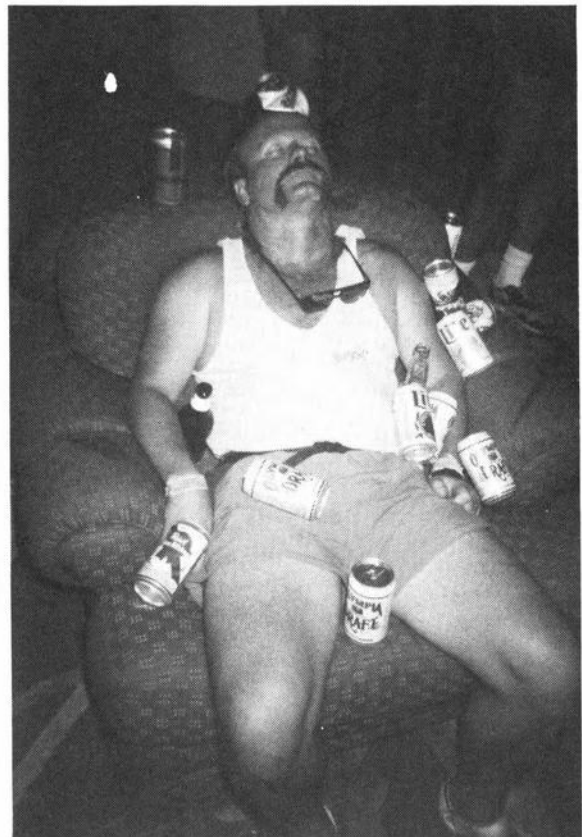

So it's Phuket in '92 and Canada in '93. Like I said, does it ever end?

"Hashin' in the heartland was one of my more memorable adventures, ranking right up there with running out of toilet paper on a camping trip."

"WANKER was very impressed with Milwaukee. So it's pretty obvious he had plenty to drink. I personally want to thank you for serving Augsberger. I don't recall WANKER ever having such fragrant wind. I don't like to brag but I too had championship wind. After the first couple of rounds I caught WANKER checking under the bed for a skunk. Thanks again, it's not often my wind is better than WANKER'S."
